PROFESSIONAL BIO

Nick Loeb serves as a Managing Partner at CSA providing climate change advisory services to corporate and government clients. Previously he was a banker for Lehman Brothers, Inc. and President of Loeb Investments, a private investment company. At Loeb Investments he partnered with HGC Capital, an environmental remediation firm to create carbon credits through methane capture of landfills in alignment with the UN's Clean Development Mechanism. Mr. Loeb has spoken as a faculty member at the Practising Law Institute on the topic of "Establishing and Enforcing Corporate Green Technology Policies" and has spoken at the South Florida Green, Energy and Climate Conference on the topic of "How to Market your Business as Green". Mr. Loeb specializes in helping companies and municipalities develop corporate sustainability strategies to take advantage of the potential revenue streams generated by commercializing their reductions, known as carbon credits. He is a member of the Palm Beach County Green Task Force's governmental sub-committee, and also serves on the following boards: the School Choice Fund, Broward County Crime Commission and formerly the Florida Co-Chair for Rudy Giuliani's Presidential Campaign. He earned a Bachelor of Science in Management and Finance from the A.B. Freeman School of Business at Tulane University.
